

Make bunting for the Portsmouth Summer Fair

We want our Summer Fair to have a really green feel to it so we'd like loads of bunting which shows things you care about which might be affected by climate change. Animals, flowers. people affected by floods, our coast.....

So bring along a stretch of bunting and we'll hang it up. And you might win a great prize like free family tickets to the Blue Reef Aquarium

If you'd like some help making your bunting, have a look at these instructions.

1. Get hold of some old material: unwanted clothes, cotton sheets or anything you can get your hands on.
2. Cut out triangles using the template shape below, or if you're feeling adventurous make your own bigger triangles. But it works best if the triangles are all of the same size and if they're the shape below
3. Write a message about what you want to protect from climate change or draw a picture. You can add on other fabric, glitter, whatever – be creative and decorate as many flags as you can.
4. Join together with others in your family, school or community to create your string of bunting. Sew or attach the flags onto a long piece of material or ribbon, leaving gaps half as wide as the flags (For super neat bunting you can use bias binding instead of ribbon and fold it over the top of the flags).

When you're done you can leave your bunting at the Lodge Arts Centre in Victoria Park or post it to Sue James, Portsmouth Climate Action Network, 57 Roundway, Waterlooville PO7 7QD. Or bring it along one the day – but quite early because we'd like to get it all up for the Fair
